McGILL SWIMMING CLUB OVERWHELM M. A. A. A. SWIMMERS AT ANNUAL MEET LAST NIGHT IN THE PEEL STREET TANK

Great Crowd of Supporters Cheer College Men on to Victory—Fisk, Webster and Lyall, of Freshman Year, Do Well—100 Yards, 40 Yards and Relay Fell to the Red and White—M. A. A. A. Pull Up on Diving Events.

Last night was a great night for McGill swimmers. Going down to the M.A.A.A. annual swimming meet, they simply cleaned up everything. A large crowd turned out, including many of the fairer sex, and everybody showed great enthusiasm as McGill man after McGill man forged his way into the first place. Few places have so resounded with the old yell this year as when a goodly body of McGill rooters raised the roof with yell after yell. College spirit has suddenly loomed out, and the men who turned out last night are well rewarded. Fisk was magnificent, swimming with tremendous vim and a beautiful stroke, he forged alongside of George Hodgson until one was forced to wonder if McGill has in Fisk a future world's champion. He is still in his freshman year, and young. We have in Fisk a brilliant star for all aquatic events of the next four years.

The greatest moment of meet was in the final of the forty yards. Fisk romped home at a tremendous speed and Bastable touched the edge for second place, and the place ran wild. McGill rooters yelled themselves hoarse, and for a few minutes there was danger of some of the gentler sex falling into the tank in their unbounding enthusiasm. Fortunately no such sad event marred the evening. McGill graduates were heard to remark that Old McGill was the same old place, and seemed to have more "pep" than ever. One could not help being reminded of the old pre-war football days; certainly no event this year has been more enthusiastic, and no one present could help feeling proud that he was an undergraduate of Old McGill. The 100 yards, senior, was a walk-over for McGill. In the first heat Fisk was opposed to George Hodgson, the world's champion. Fisk had a four-second handicap on Hodgson, and a good race was guaranteed. The excitement was most intense during the last twenty yards, when both Hodgson and Fisk broke away and spurted furiously. Fisk won by a couple of feet, and once more the McGill men gave vent to their feelings. We would like to state that George Hodgson was not in the best of health, and only swam because he had promised to enter. Nevertheless, he put up a wonderful fight, and the McGill men who turned out would have been well rewarded if they had only seen this battle between Fisk and the world's champion. This was the last time during the evening Hodgson was able to swim owing to his condition, and everybody was very disappointed that he was unable to continue. In the final of the 100 yards, McGill men had it all their own way, Webster and Lyall having won their heats and Hodgson being unable to swim. The line-up was, therefore, composed of three McGill men—Lyall, Webster and Fisk. The former two swam neck to neck the whole five lengths of the tank, and finished in a dead heat. Fisk came third, a few feet behind, but as he was handicapped to the tune of 16 seconds, one could hardly be surprised. Thus, in the 100 yards, which was probably the event of the meet, McGill pulled the first three

McGILL A.A.A. EXECUTIVE MET LAST EVENING

Question of "M's" Thoroughly Discussed in Meeting

ATHLETICS COM. TO DECIDE

Motion of Last Meeting re Cancellation of "M's" Ruled Out

A special meeting of the McGill A.A.A. Executive was held last evening and the question of M's given in the last three years was discussed thoroughly. President A. L. Walsh called the meeting to order at 7.30, and the other members present were: V. Heney, L. Montgomery, Moquin, Fiske, Kramer, Stewart Forbes, A. Matheson and Ross Laing.

The motion of last meeting with regard to cancellation of M's was ruled out by the president, owing to the mover of same being constitutionally ineligible to vote, and the motion itself being legally out of order. The question was again where it stood previous to last Saturday's meeting, and the matter was given serious consideration, each member expressing his conscientious opinion in the interest of the student body and recent graduates. A motion was finally passed requesting the Athletics Committee of Corporation to look into the constitutionality of the giving of M's from fall of 1915 to spring of 1918. This is a question upon which students are asking for a final decision, and the present Athletic Association Executive felt unanimously that it was for the higher body to decide.

The decision with regard to the granting of M's this year stood as carried at the last meeting, there being but three Senior hockey players recommended, and these three would return next year when an opportunity will be given them in Intercollegiate series of winning the large Block M.

The date for the C.I.A.U meeting to be held on March 8 was changed to March 15.

STUDENTS ATTENTION!

The Students' Society will hold a meeting on Friday, March 7th, at 5 p.m., in the Union.

PLANS FOR THE JUNIOR DANCE ARE COMPLETE

Remainder of Tickets on Sale at Union

NONE RESERVED

Will Be the Biggest Social Event Held this Year

The tickets for the Junior Dance have at last been placed on sale at the Union in order to accommodate the members of the Junior years. During the past few days the students belonging to the Senior and Junior years have been buying the tickets for the dance, and it was decided to place the remaining tickets on sale to the first comers.

There has been a great demand for tickets by the graduates who have heard of it, but it was decided that no tickets would be reserved, and that everyone desiring them would have to apply to the desk porter at the Union. It is expected that the tickets will be sold out immediately, and definite arrangements can be made to accommodate everyone present. This will be much better than it has been in the past, when the sale continued up to the night of the dance.

Everything which could be done to make the dance the best one of the season has been done, and a very enjoyable evening is assured to everyone present. Berliner's orchestra has been secured for the night. It was very difficult to obtain his services from the Ritz-Carlton Hotel, but he has assured the management of the dance that he will be present in person to conduct his orchestra. It has been mentioned before that there may be a Jass Band in attendance also. If this plan is carried out, it will mean that there will be dancing in the lounge room on the second floor of the Union as well as in the ballroom. This will be possible, as the supper will be served in the dining and grill rooms on the main floor. This will be the first dance of the season at which a buffet supper will not be served. This will help very much in doing away with the confusion which has marked the former dances held here.

In order that there shall be no confusion about the tickets, the name of the man who buys them will be written on the back of each. This will prevent men from exchanging tickets and thereby creating confusion about their identity.

Decorations have been secured for the dancing halls as well as the lounge rooms, and the building will present a striking appearance. The supper will be satisfactory to everyone, as great pains have been taken by the committee to secure the very best possible in the city.

The tickets for the dance will be sold to students at $4.00 a couple; graduates will be charged $5.00 a couple, and tickets will be sold to other friends of students at $6.00 per couple.

MED. SOCIETY.

The speaker of the evening at the Medical Society on Friday night will be Dr. C. A. Peters, D.S.O. Dr. Peters recently returned from overseas, where he was engaged in field ambulance work, and has some interesting experiences relative to field medical work to relate. His subject will be "Front Line Work with the C.A.M.C."

Besides the talk by Dr. Peters, there are several important matters to be discussed and decided upon, among them being a proposed change of the night for the Medical Society meeting. Another matter for decision will be relative to the Memorial and Roll of Honor. In connection with the latter, just what limits of service shall be required and what names are to be placed on the Roll. As this important matter will require considerable discussion, a prompt attendance at 8.15 is requested. There will be music and refreshments.

THE VICTORY OF THE SWIMMING CLUB.

Last night, at the M.A.A.A. tank, the Swimming Club showed themselves more than equal to the M.A.A.A. men. The swimmers are to be congratulated on their excellent showing, and the prospects now are good for McGill to regain the leading place she held three or four years ago. The club testify that in some of the close finishes, the McGill yell, given at the critical moment, gave the necessary spirit and determination to win out. It would be well to keep this fact in mind, for nothing helps a team more than to know that the college is out to see them win. Our congratulations are due to the winners, and it is to be hoped that any other students who are interested in swimming will get out and practice for the other aquatic meets which may be held.

AFTER THE UNIVERSITY, WHAT?

Statistics on the number of University students who are here with the definite purpose of fitting themselves for some particular work would be interesting, and if they were at hand we believe they would show only a small percentage of the student body so disposed.

At that we see no big reason why the bulk of University students should have their minds made up at first just what fields of endeavour they most desire to enter. And, in fact, we know that many of those who come here set along a certain line change their minds, as they are influenced by the courses studied. But the main thing is that every student should have some definite aim or aims in his university career or else his work will lack that spirit which is necessary for him to put forth the extra effort and really get all he should from his work.

Then, too, if a student pursues a definite course while in the university he will in most likelihood have a job waiting for him when he finishes. The world needs specially trained men. True, the cultured man is desired and needed in every field, but more than culture alone specialists are wanted. No longer is a man an engineer, business man, lawyer or teacher. He is an hydraulics expert, an accountant, a contract expert, or bacteriologist.

Whether the student trains himself for the vocation for which he is most fitted is another matter. But he should train for some vocation. He then has at least a stepping stone from which to climb to higher heights sublime, or from which to branch off into further specialized fields. He at least fits himself for useful work in some field which is of profit for vacation work while the student is yet in college.

The student who has taken his university work seriously, who has put forth his best effort in his courses, who has taken training fitting him for useful endeavour, will never be long bothered with the question of what to do after leaving college. His field will be opened up to him. His opening will be ready and waiting.—Daily Texan.

TORONTO'S NEW DEPARTMENT.

The University of Toronto has established a bureau of appointments which will interest itself chiefly in obtaining positions for the 5,000 returning university men who enlisted at various periods of the war. When the work of placing the soldiers is completed, the bureau will continue and will extend its assistance to any student upon graduation. In its endeavours to assist the returned men the university has the co-operation of its alumni, who number about 40,000, and are scattered in all parts of Canada and the United States. Everything that is possible to do to make the returned university soldier comfortable and happy in his business surroundings is being done by members of the various alumni committees.

WRESTLING AT YALE.

The wrestling season at Yale University is well under way, and despite handicaps due to the fact that many of the Yale stars returned from service in poor condition for the best work on the mat, Coach Isadore Winters, who has piloted the Yale wrestlers through several successful seasons, his teams having twice won the intercollegiate championship, believes that his proteges will round out the year's work most successfully.

AMERICANS TO STUDY IN ENGLAND.

An arrangement has been concluded between directors of the leading universities of Great Britain and the American Young Men's Christian Association, by which American officers and enlisted men will be permitted to attend university courses in Great Britain.

The association, some time ago, planned to establish temporary schools and college courses in Great Britain, bringing to them instructors from the United States. It was also proposed to take over buildings in England and adapt them to school purposes for American troops on leave. After the armistice was signed, the War Department decided that American troops should return directly from France. This decision has now been reversed, and officers and men will be allowed leave to go to England. In consequence, the War Department has authorized the association's army educational commission to proceed with arrangements by which officers and men can attend colleges in England.

R. V. C. SECTION

A TRIGONOMETRICAL TEA

When Miss Cos and Mr. Sec were married, or to be trigonometrical, were multiplied, they became one. Shortly after the wedding Mr. and Mrs. One gave their first tea. Among the distinguished guests were the Ratios, the Identities, and the Angles. Now the Ratios, Identities and Angles are not the best of friends, and, therefore, the satirical remarks which were passed around would have rivalled even the satire of the French courts.

Miss Cosec was rude enough to remark that the dainty little Miss Sine was enormous; whereas everyone knows that Miss Sine can never be greater than Mrs. One. Mr. Tan, who sometimes seems big, sometimes small, and who is an admirer of Miss Sine, immediately won her favour, by telling Miss Cosec that she was shrinking into insignificance. Thereupon, that haughty Miss Cosec answered, "Fie, Mr. Tan, I can never be smaller than Mrs. One." This silenced the party for a time. Finally, Mrs. One, leaning upon the large arm of Mr. One, led the way to the tea-room. Miss Sine followed upon the arm of Mr. Tan; Mr. Cot escorted the haughty Miss Cosec; Mr. and Mrs. Thirty Degrees came next, followed by Miss Forty-Five, and Mr. Ninety.

Miss Sine Theta, the belle of the afternoon, was too proud to lean on any arm, and, therefore, she entered the tea-room unescorted, unchaperoned and alone. The reason, though, was that Miss Sine Theta's dress was in a terrible state, being crushed strawberry, with a belt of topaz blue.

All the tables had been squared for the occasion, and cubes were suspended from the ceiling. The walls were hung with landscapes, seascapes, and fire-escapes; which all goes to prove that Trigland is fond of nature. The chairs were made of tan leather, over which silken draperies were cot together.

All sat down at the tables and commenced to chat about their social functions. Miss Sine turned to Mr. Ninety, and said, "I am positive that when I approach you, I increase." Mr. Ninety thereupon remarked, "Yes, Miss Sine, and when you are beside me you resemble Mrs. One." "Ha-ha," cried the gallant Mr. Tan, "when I approach Mr. Ninety, I also am positive I increase, but I do not resemble Mrs. One. Oh, no, I go down to posterity. (He meant infinity.)

"And you, Miss Cos," said Mr. Ninety to the bride's sister, "what effect have I on you?". Blushingly, she replied, "I am positively shy, when I approach you. I lose all my value and become a mere cipher." "What a joke!" they all cried with one voice; "but now let us have some tea."

Forthwith tea was served, and a toast proposed, according to Trigonometrical customs. The toast, a familiar one, was—

"All, sine, tan and cos!" which being interpreted, means, "all shall have positive happiness, whatever quadrant they may be in."

The trigonometrical function was then brought to an end with the function's compound anthem—

$$\tan(A+B) = \frac{\tan A + \tan B}{1 - \tan A + \tan B}$$

Sung to the tune of "O! Canada."

A LETTER FROM RUSSIA

Dear ———,—We have been moving about in the last two weeks and have put about 150 miles between us and our old position. We had to walk most of the way, and at night we were usually too tired to do anything but sleep. Even yet we have a good many versts to go.

My Russian is not coming on very well, in fact, I have cut it out altogether. After I found that there are thirty-six or more letters in the alphabet, one of which looks like this §§; also one called the tvordy-znaic, I stopped!! "Lips that speak that tongue shall never touch mine!" There is also rather a mess in the currency. There are several kinds of roubles, but they are all worth the same, i.e., nothing. The canteens haven't found this out yet, so it doesn't really matter. I hope you won't give the game away. Everybody has his own printing press and makes his own money. Unfortunately, however, the paper supply is running low. Kerensky had a good idea. He made his money small and of large denominations. It is too bad they did away with his government.

Nothing has been officially announced about our departure from these regions, but I hope to spend at least the last part of next summer in Canada. At present our only joy in life is mail from home. Remember me to all my friends and tell them to please keep on writing.

Sincerely yours.

KING OF THE BELGIANS TENDERS HIS THANKS

Two fine peaks in the Rocky Mountains have been named "King Albert" and "Queen Eliabeth," after the King and Queen of the Belgians. Maps and photographs of these peaks were recently presented to Their Majestics by Hon. Phillipe Roy, Commissioner-General of Canada at Paris. Receipt was acknowledged by Count d'Arseshot, Chief of the King's Cabinet, as follows:—

Palace of Brussels
January 6th, 1919.

"I had the honour to place before the King the photographs and maps of the mountain in the Rocky Mountains range, bearing his name, which the Geographic Board of Canada had the gracious attention to offer him.

"I am directed by His Majesty to request that you will transmit his sincere thanks to the members of this institution and tell them how much he appreciates their homage, and the sentiments which inspired it."

BRITISH INFLUENCE IN RUSSIA.

Prof. B. Pares, of London University, who has just left for the East, in a paper read at the Educational Conference of the Russo-British Fraternity, Chester Square, claimed that the institution of a special service of the Foreign Office for Russia, which could be made with modifications to apply to other parts of the Slavonic world, could only be described as a pressing national need of the first importance. The effects of the absence of such a service, he said, had already amounted to a catastrophe.

Continuing, Professor Pares said, the subject had been submitted to the British Government and Mr. Balfour had favoured the steps proposed. The war, which began out of a Slavonic question in Serbia, had put in the first place the relations between Great Britain on the one side and Russia and the Slavonic world on the other. The Germans had succeeded in establishing for the time being a position which threatened not only British interests in the East and even the durability of the alliance with Japan, who he said, if compelled to imitate the German intervention in Russia, could not be expected to take account of interests which were not protected by their possessors.

The establishment in Russia of an order of state conforming to the wishes of the majority of the populato the sea and her commercial independence would, Professor Pares said, also be decided by the part which Great Britain was to play there. It was precisely in the area of Russia and of the Slavonic world that the lack of anything like the necessary volume of knowledge had been followed by failure to avert conspicuous disaster in Serbia, Bulgaria, Rumania, Poland and now in Russia.

The creation of a British Institute at Moscow, Professor Pares maintained, would be the fitting development of the foundation of university schools of Russian study in England. The necessary foundation for the training of a special service existed already or was in process of creation in the schools in Great Britain. There were already Russian classes at Eton, Harrow, Sherborne and elsewhere. The proposed training would in particular produce a corps of travelling agents of the Consular Service such as Germany had long possessed in Russia.

The situation in Russia, he maintained, was only to be saved by the energetic contact work in that country.

A resolution was passed expressing the opinion that the German language should not be taught in the proposed British Institute.

places. Once again the old yell boomed out and again the rooters could only, with difficulty, keep their seats.

The 60 yards was a very interesting event, though for some reason McGill men had failed to enter any competitors. The M.A.A.A. men swam well, and eaKrns and Bruker came in first d second, respectively. One coul ot help feeling sorry that Parsons d not get a place as he swam mag icently, and put up a tremendous fight with Bruker for second place, only losing by a few feet. His handicap of sixteen seconds in sixty yards was almost impossible to make up; Bruker and Kearns being near the end of the tank when Parsons was permitted to plunge. In face of such odds to put up such a fight, and to come so close to second place showed fine fighting ability. We understand that Parsons will be a student at McGill next year. As Parsons is within two seconds of the breast stroke record of Canada, and Fisk is the Canadian back stroke champion of Canada, things look rosy for the McGill swimmers next year.

In the senior relay race both McGill and the M.A.A.A. entered two teams, and the event resolved itself into a clean-cut fight for supremacy between the M.A.A.A. and McGill. After a hard fight the McGill quartette, composed of Patten, Gaboury, Stanger and Fisk, who won first place, closely followed by the M. A. A. A. team, composed of Kennedy, Bourne, Laidley and Parsons. Our second team arrived on the scene for third place—the team being composed of Bastable, Notman, Webster and Pitt. The credit of gaining second place by the M.A.A.A. was due in the final moment to Parsons, who put on a tremendous spurt and nosed his way into the second place. The McGill men present were glad to see them get this second place, for the showing up to then had gone all McGill's way, in spite of the great fighting spirit of the M.A.A.A. representatives.

The diving fell to the M.A.A.A., and they certainly put on some wonderful stuff For years such diving has not been seen and everybody felt a thrill as Teddy Bowles gave an exhibition of a corkscrew dive from the high spring-board. It appeared to be a most difficult feat, and those present held their breath as the twirling diver leaped from the board. Other fine dives were one and a half (a form of somersault), and back pike. McGill men did not show up very well in the diving, Teddy Bowles, Billy Quirk, and Wendall Laidley, all of the M. A. A. A., pulling the first three places. This seems to be the weak spot in the McGill line-up, and if we may advise Fisk, the president of the Swimming Club, we would suggest that he gets busy and sees that some men have the necessary ability to pull first place in the next aquatic meet. We also were sorry to see no McGill men trying for the breast stroke race, but we hear that Fisk is taking this matter in hand. With Parsons on our team next year, we should have a pretty strong line-up for this event. But, get after that diving, fellows. McGill is not greedy, but she likes a lot, and we want a first place in diving next year.

There were some interesting events for juniors, but, of course, McGill were not competitors. Some of the small boys made a good showing. Owen and Cowan getting first and second places respectively. The boys also made good speed in their relay race, the team composed of Nelson, Bruker, Petri and Campbell, gaining fi st place.

On analysing the events we find that in the 100 yards, 40 yards, and relay race, McGill men obtained 23 points out of a possible 27. This is a magnificent showing, and augurs well for the future. On all the senior events we got 23 points out of a possible 45, thus beating the M.A.A.A. by one point, though we were not entered in the sixty yards (breast), or the diving. This certainly should make McGill men look up and take notice. The Swimming Club deserves credit for the splendid effort they put up last night. They have helped to keep up the good record of Old McGill, and all men should show an interest in the club. If there are any men who swim, or play polo let them get into the "swim" right away—have a talk with Harold Fisk, of Science '22, the president of the club, or with G. Gavin Miller, of Med. '22, the secretary, and they will be only too glad to welcome you to the fold. Next year we mean to have polo teams that will bring a little more silverware to the Union.

On Saturday McGill will be represented at the "National" new swimming tank, who are holding an opening swimming meet. The building is on Cherrier street, near Lafontaine Park, and we would like to see some McGill men out to support the Red and White.

On Saturday, April the 5th, McGill is holding the biggest aquatic meet of recent years. Well-known stars will appear and the Swimming Club needs the support of every undergraduate. Keep the date in mind and full information will appear in a few days. Below appear the events with the names of the winners:—

McGILL HOSPITAL MUCH APPRECIATED

Col. Elder Honored by the Portuguese Government

Col. J. M. Elder, C.M.G. who was in command of No. 3 (McGill) General Hospital in France, has received a letter from Col. McBride, O.C. of No. 1 Portuguese Hospital, in which he pays tribute to the work of the McGill Hospital and Col. Elder. During the winter of 1917-18 the McGill Hospital treated over 5,000 Portuguese soldiers, and Col. McBride, who then held the rank of Captain, was chief of the attending Portuguese medical officers. Col. Elder has been awarded the grade of Commander of the Portuguese Military Order of Aviz.

The letter from Col. McBride is as follows:

"I hasten to let you know that I have just learned through the War Ministry Bulletin that the Portuguese Government had granted you the grade of Commander of the Military Order of Aviz.

"I am very happy to see that my country has given you proof of its appreciation for the great care which the five thousand Portuguese soldiers received when they passed through the No. 3 Canadian General Hospital (McGill).

"More than anyone, I know what we owe to this modest hospital, where I spent the best part of my sojourn in France, and of which I keep the most agreeable souvenir. I will always remember the kind welcome which the Portuguese officers received from you and your officers, and the devotion of Miss MacLatchy and the sisters for our sick and wounded.

"I cannot but appreciate what we have learned from you during our sojourn with you, which knowledge has enabled me to take up the task of opening my own hospital. I took for a model your magnificent organization.

"It is for all these reasons that the Portuguese Government wished to honor you with one of the oldest orders of Europe. The order was founded by the Cavalier Monks in the 13th century. The highest princes of Portugal were members, including D. Henrique, the great navigator, and the son of King John I., Grand Master of the Order. The latter gave his name to the most brilliant dynasty of Portugal.

"The color of the order is green, and as Commander you are entitled to the crest and shield. I think that you will receive these from the War Office, but I ask you for the permission to offer you the shield, which I will easily obtain from Lisbon.

"Please accept, my Colonel, the homage of my best sentiments, my profound respect, and my most sincere devotion.—Col. McBride."

MORE ATHLETICS FOR HARVARD.

The athletic authorities at Harvard University are desirous of obtaining a more general participation in athletics by all members of the university, and strenuous efforts are to be made to bring this about. The athletic committee has asked the Student Council to submit plans for its accomplishment. Dr. R. I. Lee '02 is the leading authority at the university on this subject, but as he was unable to attend the last meeting of the committee, the matter was held over until a later date.

The athletic committee is also desirous of finding out what the Student Council thinks regarding some other phases of intercollegiate competition and has invited its members to write on any question concerning the abolition of training tables or other matters of timely interest to athletics.

At the last meeting of the athletic committee a number of schedules were ratified and some changes were made in schedules previously announced. It was decided that the triangular track meet between Harvard, Yale and Princeton should not be held, and in its place Harvard will meet Yale in a dual meet at New Haven, Connecticut, either May 17 or 24, and will meet Princeton at Cambridge on one of these two dates not taken by Yale. Yale and Princeton will meet May 10.

Why They Are Buying WAR-SAVINGS STAMPS

The housewife is economizing in comfortable ways and investing in War-Savings Stamps at $4.02 each this month. In 1924, when these stamps are redeemed at $5.00 each, every dollar will have greater purchasing power.

The business man is cutting off small and unnecessary expenditures and buying War-Savings Stamps. He knows his money is available any time he really needs it, with added interest. $5 for $4 in five years is an excellent return on money otherwise idle.

School children are buying Thrift Stamps at 25 cents each and are filling their Thrift Cards in order to acquire a War-Savings Stamp. They are helping their country and acquiring the habit of Thrift.

Men on the farms are buying W-S.S. because the Government uses the money to finance export orders for the food raised on Canadian farms. This makes their market sure.

Men, women and children of all ages and conditions of life, are investing in W-S.S. because it is a convenient way to "build a bond". The security is absolute and the interest is unusually high. Some day they will look back with great satisfaction to the day when they bought their first War-Savings Stamps.

AT THE SHOW

The Imperial Theatre are to be complimented on the excellent films they are presenting this week. D. W. Griffith's "A Romance of Happy Valley" should be seen by everyone. It is indeed a page from the Book of Life. Humour and pathos are well blended. The boy who gets tired of the quiet life and the girl who remains true are well shown. The mother who sings in spite of the troubles of life, and the tempted father are equally well portrayed.

For those interested in travel films, the pictures of Old France will prove interesting.

The lady super-contralto sang "Mother o' Mine" nicely, and her singing alone is well worth a visit to this theatre.

MORE ABOUT KNOWLTON.

Already some students have expressed their intentions of joining the happy bunch from McGill to meet the other jolly good fellows from all the eastern colleges, at Knowlton the Beautiful.

Ten June days (18th to 28th) with the best of good fellowship, good sport and recreations, aquatic and otherwise, with the best of good things to eat, should be inducement enough for any fellow who enjoys living.

Perhaps it seems base to mention food as an attraction (?) Personally, I enjoy a good dinner, and any kind of a time isn't up to much when good meals are not provided regularly. Especially is this true when young appetites have been sharpened by abundance of clean open-air life. If you wish to know how they feed one down at Knowlton, ask any fellow who has been there. "Best I've ever had." See R. DeWitt Scott or any member of the Y.M.C.A. Board.

ARE WE DEMOCRATIC?

The flag on the Arts Building at the head of the avenue was up; only partly visible to the student or professor who knew poor "Scotty" Martin, as we walked up to first lecture. "Thank God," said one, "the old University has become democratic—purged by the war, and honors poor old Scotty." Alas! at the head of the avenue the flag was discovered to be at the head of the flag-pole, and Gen. Pau was the cause, not poor "Scotty." "I wonder," said the other, "if General Pau had known, whether he wouldn't have preferred to see it at half-mast?"

McGill next claimed his attention, and he entered with the class of Dentistry '20. He became Assistant Physical Director under Dr. A. S. Lamb, 1916-17.

At both the Frenchman-Sophomore and the University Sports in his first year he won the mile race.

He has held the following offices: Vice-president, McGill Y.M.C.A.; Secretary, McGill A.A.A.; University Physical Director; President, McGill A. A. A.; Coach of the Senior and Intermediate Basketball teams, 1918-19.
